ASCAP SONGWRITER MONDAYS - SID SELVIDGE / AMY RIGBY / JOY LYNN WHITE

Monday Aug 23 2004 - 8 pm

Singer SID SELVIDGE is "...neither country nor rock. He's pretty much everything musically in the whole Southeast" (The New York Times). Selvidge has recorded with legends Alex Chilton, Furry Lewis, Willy DeVille and Skip James; he has also recorded his own solo albums. Singer/songwriter AMY RIGBY has been critically acclaimed for her wry pop takes on life as a single mother, particularly with her 1996 solo debut Diary of a Mod Housewife. Nashville-based singer/songwriter JOY LYNN WHITE's voice has been heralded as displaying "an emotional range beyond anything in mainstream country music" (USA Today). In addition to making her own critically acclaimed CDs, White has sung with Lucinda Williams, Dwight Yoakam, the Mavericks and Iris DeMent. She recently played country music matriarch Maybelle Carter in a theater production celebrating the story of the legendary Carter Family.
